

Dutch Fiber Optic Identification Company

Summary of Content

Open Dutch Fiber (ODF) and Eurofiber are leading fiber optic network providers in the Netherlands, offering extensive open-access and high-capacity fiber infrastructure.

Open Dutch Fiber (ODF)

Open Dutch Fiber is the largest independent open-access fiber optic supplier in the Netherlands, aiming to connect over 2 million homes in urban and semi-urban areas by 2025 . The company operates an open network, allowing multiple internet service providers such as T-Mobile, Fiber.nl, TriNed, and Freedom Internet to deliver services over its infrastructure . ODF emphasizes data security and risk management, holding ISO 27001 certification, which ensures compliance with international information security standards . The company is also a registered telecommunications provider with the Authority for Consumers and Markets (ACM), demonstrating adherence to Dutch legal and competition regulations . ODF is a member of NLconnect, the leading industry association for fiber optic and digital infrastructure providers, which helps the company stay updated on sector developments and collaborate efficiently with other stakeholders .
