

How much do high and low voltage distribution boxes cost in Jamaica

Summary of Content

High voltage distribution boxes in Jamaica typically range from JMD 150,000 to over JMD 500,000, while low voltage units generally cost between JMD 20,000 and JMD 150,000, depending on specifications and installation requirements.

Low Voltage Distribution Boxes

Low voltage distribution boxes are commonly used in residential and small commercial applications. Prices vary based on:

- Voltage rating (typically 120/240V single-phase or 3-phase systems)
 - Number of circuits (from 4 to 24 or more)
 - Material and durability (plastic vs metal enclosures)
 - Additional features (circuit breakers, surge protection, smart monitoring)
- In Jamaica, basic residential low voltage boxes can cost around JMD 20,000-50,000, while more advanced commercial units with multiple circuits and enhanced safety features may range from JMD 80,000-150,000 .

High Voltage Distribution Boxes

High voltage distribution boxes are used in industrial, utility, and large commercial installations. Costs are influenced by:

- Voltage rating (typically 11kV or higher)
- Amperage capacity
